Taiwan's EVA Air Launches Clothing Line With Built-in Face Shield

Luckily, Taiwanese airline EVA Air has come up with its own solution and will start selling a branded protective jacket which is said to offer fabric made out with a microbial infection barrier and a built-in detachable face shield to protect against droplets.

Shipping from December 25, 2020, the protective aviation jacket is a snip at just NT$1,230 (US$44). The jacket also comes emblazoned with 'SOCIAL DISTANCING' written in large writing down one sleeve – just in case anyone needs any reminding about this year's most overused phrase.
